

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Fall is here and another season is upon us. This continues to be a challenging year for everyone. There are many families among us who have lost incomes and health insurance due to the Corona epidemic. For those of us still working, we need to be conscious of these difficult times for some and be extra patient and understanding when dealing with our patients and clients. For those among us who have lost a job or have decreased hours, I hope things improve soon and work conditions improve.

You should have received an E-blast from AAMA letting you know they are offering free CEU opportunities on the AAMA website. Please take advantage of these. There are 2 right now available as well as home study courses for those who need more CEUS. AAMA has extended the recertification dates so far but we must continue to be aware and obtain them when and where we can.

October means Medical Assistant Week is just around the corner, October 19-23, 2020. Be proud of your profession and spread the word! You should be recognized for your hard work, dedication and compassion for your patients. Let your coworkers know who may not be members and congratulate them during this week. We have all had to work harder and have had to adjust to many changes quickly due to COVID-19 and you deserve some praise.

Unfortunately, based on numbers being released, it appears we may need to expect another wave of COVID-19 in the somewhat near future. In the meantime, take some time for yourself. Try to relax and enjoy our beautiful fall weather and the changing colors around our state. Stay safe and take care of each other.
